

All Families

Thank you to those who attended our Secondary Campus Celebration of Learning! It was a wonderful turn out to honour Gr12 students who shared about their Senior project, give out awards and connect with each other. In addition, we were able to combine these evenings with the return of the theatre at CCSS. Special thanks to those who volunteered their time for the High School production of Antigone Now by Mellissa Cooper and to the Grade 9 Semester 2 Drama class who treated us to Alan Haehnel's 15 Reasons not to be in a Play. It was a half hour of comedic irony followed by 40 minutes of an earnest tragedy all performed in an intimate space making creative use of levels and sight lines, architecture and effects.

On this National Indigenous People's Day, we are especially reminded of the power and importance of our traditions. Namely, gathering for celebration and the exchange of stories. It is an immense privilege to be able to use our school, on Treaty 7 land, to reconcile and restore the Kingdom through storytelling. John 1:1
